THE INTERNATIONAL FISHERIES STEWARDSHIP AND ENFORCEMENT ACT

JANUARY 26, 2012.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. ROCKEFELLER, from the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany S. 52]

The Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, to which was referred the bill (S. 52) to establish uniform administrative and enforcement procedures and penalties for the enforcement of the High Seas Driftnet Fishing Moratorium Protection Act and similar statutes, and for other purposes, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon without amendment and recommends that the bill do pass.

PURPOSE OF THE BILL

The purposes of S. 52, the International Fisheries Stewardship and Enforcement Act, are to: strengthen and harmonize the enforcement provisions of U.S. statutes for implementing international fisheries agreements; authorize actions regarding foreign vessels engaged in illegal, unregulated, and unreported (IUU) fishing; authorize actions regarding the importation of IUU fish and fish product into the United States; create interagency programs for coordinating international fisheries enforcement and assistance to developing countries; make technical and clarifying changes to international fisheries statutes; and enact implementing legislation for the Antigua Convention.

BACKGROUND AND NEEDS

Many fish stocks around the world have become depleted in the last several decades as a result of fleet overcapacity, overfishing, and ineffective fisheries law enforcement regimes. Coastal fishing nations are responsible for managing the stocks that fall within their domestic waters, which extend 200 nautical miles from their coastline, also known as their Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ). Unfortunately, many of these coastal nations do not manage for stock sustainability, enforce their regulations effectively, or coordinate management of shared stocks with other fishing nations.

Under the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (MSA, 16 U.S.C. 1801 et seq.), the U.S. Government exercises sovereign rights and exclusive management authority over fish and Continental Shelf fishery resources within the U.S. EEZ. The MSA authorizes the Secretary of Commerce (Secretary), through the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) within the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), to be responsible for the management of these resources. The MSA calls for Regional Fishery Management Councils, and the Secretary as appropriate, to develop management plans, subject to the Secretary's approval, that follow the Act's requirements for rebuilding overfished stocks and setting harvest levels according to science-based catch limits.

The coordinated management of shared stocks harvested beyond 200 miles is accomplished by nations participating in Regional Fisheries Management Organizations (RFMOs) or through international agreements created to guide and coordinate the fisheries management activities of multiple nations that target common stocks in specific regions. Each nation that chooses to participate in RFMOs or fisheries agreements retains its sovereignty, yet is expected to develop domestic fisheries laws and regulations consistent with each agreement. The United States follows this practice and seeks to implement legislation and regulations to meet its commitments in RFMOs and under international fisheries agreements. Short of such an agreement or implementing legislation, U.S. fisheries managers seek discussions with foreign counterparts to address concerns on interjurisdictional stock management.

All U.S. international fishery enforcement activities are coordinated closely between the Coast Guard, NMFS, and the State Department. The Coast Guard and NMFS also provide input for the State Department's negotiations of fishery treaties and agreements, in addition to reviewing foreign fishing vessel permit applications. The Coast Guard and NMFS jointly conduct fisheries enforcement patrols and investigations under a wide-ranging memorandum of understanding. Additionally, the Coast Guard and NMFS cooperate closely with individual U.S. States and territories, and coordinate MSA enforcement in and adjacent to State and territorial waters. Further, the Coast Guard conducts international enforcement operations in close coordination with the State Department, as required by Presidential Directive 27.

Foreign IUU Fishing

The term "IUU fishing" describes a range of fishing activities, including: the failure to report or misreporting of catches; fishing without the permission of a coastal country; the reflagging of vessels to countries that are unable or unwilling to adequately control their fishing activity; and noncompliance with fishing gear and area rules. The extent to which IUU fishing occurs is not known, but some have estimated that it accounts for as much as one quarter of the world's fish catch, and as such, represents one of the greatest challenges to sustainable global fishing management and conservation. Recent estimates of the value of IUU fish harvests range from $9 billion to $25 billion annually, and despite a lack of specific data, these harvests likely create significant ecological impacts.

Worldwide, the amount of IUU fishing appears to be increasing as IUU fishermen attempt to avoid stricter fishing rules created to address declining fish stocks. Preventing IUU fishing on the high seas is difficult due to the vast areas of ocean to monitor, enforcement resource limitations, and a high volume of operating fishing vessels. Current international efforts to eliminate IUU fishing are mainly led through the United Nations (UN) Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), and are primarily focused on persuading individual nations to better control and manage their fishing fleets. RFMOs strive to follow guidelines established by the UN to combat IUU fishing. For example, the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas is working toward requiring fishing vessels to register with the Commission to be eligible to sell their catch.

IUU Challenges for Developing Countries

In an effort to generate revenue, the governments of many developing coastal countries have negotiated agreements that allow developed countries, including Europe, China, and Russia, to harvest their fisheries resources. In some cases, officials from developing countries have oversold fishing rights, inflated potential catches, and allowed pirate vessels and locals free reign in breeding grounds. Fishing under these agreements can lead to overexploitation, as many of these developing coastal countries lack the capacity to conduct fish stock assessments, define sustainable harvest levels, and monitor and enforce regulations to guide fishing activity. This results in the rapid decline of local fish stocks which, in turn, threatens the livelihood of local fishermen.

To combat IUU fishing, particularly along the coasts of developing countries, many marine policy experts have recommended ending the system of flags of convenience, improving port inspections, and reducing the fishing pressure caused by large fishing fleets from industrialized nations. However, these measures require resources, including funding, staff, technology, and expertise, that remain largely unavailable in many developing countries. Many foreign aid organizations, such as the World Bank, attempt to direct foreign financial and technical assistance to improve the sustainability of coastal nations' fisheries. The United States has initiated limited efforts to assist developing countries in targeting IUU fishing. NMFS is engaged in activities to prevent, deter, and control bycatch and IUU actions in West Africa through observer training in Ghana and regional dialogues in Senegal. NOAA has contracted the Coast Guard to examine the enforcement capabilities and the available governmental infrastructure and capacity of both Senegal and Gabon to promote fisheries conservation and management.

The Magnuson-Stevens Conservation and Management Reauthorization Act (MSRA), which was passed by the 109th Congress and signed into law in January 2007, made significant improvements in the area of international fisheries conservation. The overarching theme of these improvements was the enhancement and expansion of the authority of the Secretary to work through various multilateral organizations, such as RFMOs, to address IUU fishing and bycatch of protected living marine resources (PLMR).

Specifically, Title IV of the MSRA amended the High Seas Driftnet Fishing Moratorium Protection Act (Moratorium Protection Act) to require the Secretary to produce a biennial report to Congress which includes: the state of knowledge on the status of international living marine resources that are shared by the United States or are subject to a treaty or agreement to which the United States is a party, including a list of all fish stocks classified as overfished, overexploited, depleted, endangered, or threatened with extinction by international or other authorities charged with management or conservation of living marine resources; a list of nations the United States has identified as having vessels engaged in IUU fishing, bycatch of PLMR, or both; a description of efforts taken by listed nations to take appropriate corrective action; progress in strengthening the efforts of international fishery management organizations to end IUU fishing; and the steps taken by the Secretary at the international level to adopt measures comparable to those of the United States to reduce the impacts of fishing and other practices on PLMR.

The MSRA also amended the Moratorium Protection Act to, among other things: require the Secretary to pursue specific improvements to strengthen international fishery management organizations through the adoption of IUU vessel lists, stronger port State controls, and market-related measures; require the Secretary to promote improved monitoring and surveillance of international fisheries; authorize the Secretary to promulgate implementing rules relating to certification for listed nations; and provide authority to prohibit the importation into the United States of fish and fish products from listed nations that fail to address deficiencies in preventing IUU fishing and PLMR bycatch.

The Need for Legislation to Strengthen U.S. International Fisheries Enforcement

The United States conducts international fisheries enforcement patrols and investigations through the NMFS Office of Law Enforcement (OLE) and the Coast Guard, with the Department of State providing diplomatic and legal support. These agencies enforce the provisions of statutes for implementing the terms of the international fisheries treaties and agreements to which the United States is a party. However, as each implementing statute was developed, they often took divergent approaches for establishing enforcement tools, setting fines and penalties, and otherwise carrying out enforcement patrols and investigations. As a result, U.S. international fisheries enforcement efforts are carried out under a patchwork of different standards and statutes. By harmonizing these standards and activities across implementing statutes and with the MSA, U.S. fisheries enforcement officers and lawyers could streamline, clarify, and strengthen their overall approach for targeting foreign IUU fishing. Additionally, by increasing the fines and penalties, U.S. laws could be a more effective deterrent and make these penalties more than just the cost of doing business for well-financed global corporations, as they are now.

Internationally, the United States participated in a FAO-organized effort to draft a legally-binding Agreement on Port State Measures to Prevent, Deter, and Eliminate Illegal, Unreported, and Unregulated Fishing. Ultimately, this agreement, which was adopted in November 2009, and must now be approved by the U.S. Senate, will deny port entry to IUU fishing vessels and other vessels that support IUU fishing. In the interim, there are certain steps that the United States and its trading partners are taking to discourage IUU fishing. The United States continues to publish the temporary list of IUU fishing vessels maintained by NOAA. This list was established in the fiscal year (FY) 2008 Consolidated Appropriations bill (P.L. 110–161), which temporarily authorized NOAA to publish a list of IUU fishing vessels identified by RFMOs. The goal of this list is to allow U.S. law enforcement officers, port authorities, and the commercial fishing industry to quickly and easily identify IUU fishing vessels; this will be a useful tool for the commercial fishing industry given that there are significant risks and liabilities to engaging in business with those vessels. On September 27, 2010, NOAA published a final rule to deny port of entry to fishing vessels that have been listed as engaging in IUU fishing. Upon completion of NOAA rulemaking procedures in 2010, the United States' authority to deny port access to certain vessels engaged in high seas driftnet fishing was effectively expanded to vessels of nations certified to have engaged in IUU fishing as defined by the MSA. Finally, in September 2008, the European Council adopted a regulation to prevent, deter, and eliminate IUU fishing. The regulation, which became effective on January 1, 2010, requires that all wild caught seafood and seafood products (with some exceptions) landed in, or exported to the European Union be accompanied by a "catch certificate" attesting to the fact the fish was caught legally, i.e., is non-IUU. NMFS's Seafood Inspection Program is responsible for issuing and signing the catch certificate for U.S. caught seafood.

Domestically, the United States can take steps to promote inter-agency cooperation and reduce the bureaucratic barriers that can limit the effectiveness of patrols, investigations, and any subsequent litigation. NMFS OLE and the Coast Guard undertake international fisheries enforcement activities to the extent that funding and other resources allow, and as such have had limited effectiveness in reducing IUU fishing and preventing all IUU fish products from entering the United States. The United States could improve its law enforcement efforts by allowing agencies to share enforcement authorities, information, and intelligence (subject to appropriate protections), and other resources; enter into memorandums of understandings and other agreements with fisheries officers in States and other nations; and otherwise leverage intergovernmental tools and resources.

The United States can also build upon existing efforts to provide assistance and other support to developing countries struggling with fisheries management and IUU enforcement efforts. As noted above, the United States has provided minimal forms of support and assistance through NMFS and the Coast Guard. However, this topic has not been a significant focus of the U.S. Agency for International Development or the Millennium Challenge Corporation, the two primary United States Federal programs for providing foreign assistance. By encouraging the development of programs aimed at international fisheries conservation and IUU fishing within the existing foreign assistance framework, in cooperation with experts in NMFS and the Coast Guard, the United States can expand its reach and effectiveness in targeting this significant marine policy problem facing developing countries.

SUMMARY OF PROVISIONS

The International Fisheries Stewardship and Enforcement Act (IFSEA), S. 52, would: (1) strengthen and harmonize the enforcement provisions of U.S. statutes for implementing international fisheries agreements; (2) authorize actions regarding foreign vessels engaged in IUU fishing; (3) facilitate interagency coordination of international fisheries enforcement and assistance to developing countries; (5) make technical and clarifying changes to international fisheries statutes; and (6) implement the Antigua Convention.

Title I of IFSEA would strengthen the authority of NOAA and the Coast Guard to implement international fisheries laws, carry out investigations and enforcement activities, and establish new prohibited acts for interfering with investigations. The bill would conform the enforcement provisions of statutes for international fisheries agreements with the MSA, and increase civil and criminal penalties for violating international fisheries laws. Additionally, IFSEA would expand existing NOAA authorities to publicly maintain a list and take action against vessels engaged in IUU fishing. The bill would also amend the High Seas Driftnet Act to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to deny port access to IUU fishing vessels from nations listed under the new national certification procedures authorized in Section 403 of the MSRA.

Title II would create an International Fisheries Enforcement Program within NOAA and provide the agency with new authorities to increase interagency cooperation, share resources and information, and extend authorities to other law enforcement officers. It also would permit the establishment of an International Cooperation and Assistance Program to provide assistance for international capacity building efforts; training for monitoring, enforcement, and conservation efforts; technical expertise, outreach, and education to combat IUU fishing and promote international marine conservation.

Title III would make technical and clarifying amendments to various statutes implementing international fisheries agreements, in order to improve and streamline program performance and rule-making processes and facilitate information sharing.

Title IV would implement the Convention for the Strengthening of the Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission established by the 1949 Convention between the United States of America and the Republic of Costa Rica, also known as the Antigua Convention.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

Senator Inouye introduced S. 52, the International Fisheries Stewardship and Enforcement Act, on January 25, 2011. S. 52 is cosponsored by Senators Rockefeller, Kerry, Snowe, and Cantwell. Similar legislation, S. 2870, was introduced by Senator Inouye during the 111th Congress and referred to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation. The Committee reported S. 2870 favorably without amendment. On May 5, 2011, the Committee met in open executive session and ordered S. 52 reported favorably without amendment.

ESTIMATED COSTS

In accordance with paragraph 11(a) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate and section 403 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee provides the following cost estimate, prepared by the Congressional Budget Office:

JUNE 15, 2011.

Hon. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IV,
Chairman, Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for S. 52, the International Fisheries Stewardship and Enforcement Act.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Jeff LaFave.

Sincerely,

DOUGLAS W. ELMENDORF.

Enclosure.

S. 52—International Fisheries Stewardship and Enforcement Act

Summary: S. 52 would establish uniform enforcement policies and procedures among federal statutes that govern the regulation of commercial fishing. The bill also would authorize funding for programs to improve the enforcement of laws related to international fisheries and coordinate enforcement actions among federal agencies. In addition, the bill would authorize the appropriation of funds to carry out several international fishing agreements. Finally, the bill would amend the Tuna Conventions Act of 1950 to implement the Antigua Convention, an international fishing agreement signed by the United States in 2003.

Assuming appropriation of the authorized amounts, CBO estimates that implementing S. 52 would cost $342 million over the 2012–2016 period and $51 million after 2016.

Enacting this legislation could increase revenues (from civil and criminal penalties) and associated direct spending; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures apply. However, CBO estimates that the net effects of those collections and subsequent spending on future budget deficits would be negligible for each year.

CBO has not reviewed title IV of the bill for intergovernmental or private-sector mandates. Section 4 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) excludes from the application of that act any legislative provisions that are necessary for the ratification or implementation of international treaty obligations. CBO has determined that title IV falls within that exclusion. The remaining provisions of S. 52 contain no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

Estimated cost to the Federal Government: The estimated budgetary impact of S. 52 is shown in the following table. The costs of this legislation fall within budget function 300 (environment and natural resources).

	By fiscal year, in millions of dollars—

Estimated Outlays	84	109	64	48	37	342

^a Of the appropriations received in fiscal year 2010, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) allocated $2 million to carry out activities similar to the ones authorized in title II. The agency has not completed its allocation of fiscal year 2011 appropriations for those activities.

^b Of the appropriations NOAA received in fiscal year 2010, the agency allocated $29 million to carry out international fishing agreements. The agency has not completed its allocation of fiscal year 2011 appropriations for those activities.

Basis of estimate: For this estimate, CBO assumes that the legislation will be enacted by the end of 2011 and that the authorized and estimated amounts will be appropriated for each fiscal year. Estimated outlays are based on historical spending patterns for similar programs.

Title II would authorize the appropriation of $30 million for each of fiscal years 2012 through 2017 for a new program to detect, investigate, and enforce laws against certain fishing activities. The new program would be administered by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and carried out with help from other federal agencies, such as the U.S. Coast Guard and U.S. Customs and Border Protection. Title II also would authorize the appropriation of $5 million annually over the same period for grants and other assistance to foreign governments to improve international enforcement of fisheries laws. Assuming appropriation of the authorized amounts, CBO estimates that implementing the new programs would cost $157 million over the 2012–2016 period and $51 million after 2016.

Title III would authorize the appropriation of $91 million a year over the 2012–2013 period to carry out activities related to certain international fishing agreements. That title also would authorize such sums as may be necessary to carry out similar activities under another international fishing agreement; based on information from NOAA, CBO estimates that those activities would cost about $2 million a year over the 2012–2013 period. In total, assuming appropriation of the necessary amounts, CBO estimates that implementing title III would cost $185 million over the 2012–2016 period.

Title IV would amend the Tuna Conventions Act of 1950 to implement the Antigua Convention and would establish guidelines for the selection, composition, and duties of certain bodies that represent the United States on the Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission. Because those bodies currently exist and members of those bodies are not compensated by the federal government, CBO estimates that implementing title IV would have no significant impact on the federal budget.

Pay-As-You-Go considerations: The Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010 establishes budget-reporting and enforcement procedures for legislation affecting direct spending or revenues. Enacting S. 52 could increase revenues (from civil and criminal penalties) and associated direct spending; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures would apply. However, CBO estimates that any increase in revenues from penalties would be less than $500,000 a year and would be offset by similar increases in direct spending from the Crime Victims Fund (for criminal penalties) or by NOAA (for civil penalties).

Intergovernmental and private-sector impact: CBO has not reviewed title IV of S. 52 for intergovernmental or private-sector mandates. Section 4 of UMRA excludes from the application of that act any legislative provisions that are necessary for the ratification or implementation of international treaty obligations. CBO has determined that the provisions of title IV fall within that exclusion because they would implement the Antigua Convention.

The remaining provisions of the bill contain no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

Estimate prepared by: Federal Costs: Jeff LaFave; Impact on State, Local, and Tribal Governments: Ryan Miller; Impact on the Private Sector: Amy Petz.

Estimate approved by: Theresa Gullo, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

REGULATORY IMPACT STATEMENT

In accordance with paragraph 11(b) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the Committee provides the following evaluation of the regulatory impact of the legislation, as reported:

NUMBER OF PERSONS COVERED

S. 52 would strengthen and harmonize the enforcement provisions of U.S. statutes for implementing international fisheries agreements, authorize actions regarding foreign vessels engaged in IUU fishing, authorize actions regarding the importation of IUU fish and fish product into the United States, facilitate interagency coordination of international fisheries enforcement and assistance to developing countries, and make technical and clarifying changes to international fisheries statutes. It authorizes the Secretary to promulgate new regulations to address new prohibited acts related to interfering with an international fisheries investigation, and therefore, would subject those individuals or businesses to new regulations.

ECONOMIC IMPACT

Title II of the reported bill authorizes $30 million, for each of FY 2012 through FY 2017, for the development and implementation of a new interagency International Fisheries Enforcement Program. It also authorizes $5 million, for each of FY 2012 through FY 2017, for the establishment of the International Cooperation and Assistance Program. Considering the potential cost savings and economic return on an effective international fisheries conservation and enforcement program, the funding levels ultimately enacted are not expected to have a significant inflationary impact on the nation's economy.

PRIVACY

The reported bill would not have any adverse impact on the personal privacy of individuals.

PAPERWORK

S. 52 would not impose any new paperwork requirements on private citizens, businesses, or other entities that do not choose to participate in international fisheries activities; those who do participate in this industry may be subject to some changes in the paperwork requirements to meet emerging program needs.

CONGRESSIONALLY DIRECTED SPENDING

In compliance with paragraph 4(b) of rule XLIV of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the Committee provides that no provisions contained in the bill, as reported, meet the definition of congressionally directed spending items under the rule.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

Section 1. Short Title and Table of Contents.

This section would designate the short title of this bill: the "International Fisheries Stewardship and Enforcement Act." This section also contains the Table of Contents.

TITLE I—ADMINISTRATION AND ENFORCEMENT OF CERTAIN FISHERY AND RELATED STATUTES

Section 101. Authority of the Secretary to Enforce Statutes.

Subsection (a) would direct the Secretary and the Secretary of the department in which the Coast Guard is operating, currently the Department of Homeland Security, to enforce the statutes to which this section applies. The Secretary would be allowed, by agreement, to utilize the personnel, equipment, and facilities of any other Federal agency, including all elements of the Department of Defense to carry out this section. This section would apply to the High Seas Driftnet Fishing Moratorium Protection Act (16 U.S.C. 1826d et seq.), title IV of the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 (16 U.S.C. 1411 et seq.), the Dolphin Protection Consumer Information Act (16 U.S.C. 1385), the Tuna Conventions Act of 1950 (16 U.S.C. 951 et seq.), the North Pacific Anadromous Stocks Act of 1992 (16 U.S.C. 5001 et seq.), the South Pacific Tuna Act of 1988 (16 U.S.C. 973 et seq.), the Antarctic Marine Living Resources Convention Act of 1984 (16 U.S.C. 2431 et seq.), the Atlantic Tunas Convention Act of 1975 (16 U.S.C. 971 et seq.), the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Convention Act of 1995 (16 U.S.C. 5601 et seq.), the Western and Central Pacific Fisheries Convention Implementation Act (16 U.S.C. 6901 et seq.), the Northern Pacific Halibut Act of 1982 (16 U.S.C. 773 et seq.), and the Antigua Convention Implementing Act of 2011. In addition, this subsection could apply to any other Act of the same subject as designated by the Secretary after having given notice and an opportunity for a hearing.

Subsection (b) would direct the Secretary to prevent any person from violating any Act to which this section applies in the same way as though sections 307 through 311 of the MSA were incorporated into such Act. Any person, with a few exceptions, who violates any Act to which this section applies would be subject to the penalties, privileges, and immunities provided in the sections 307 through 311 of the MSA.

Subsection (c) would outline that if there is a conflict with a provision from the MSA, the provision of this subsection would apply. The amount of the civil penalty would not exceed $250,000 per violation. Each day of a continuing violation would constitute a separate violation. The Attorney General, upon the request of the Secretary, would be allowed to take civil action in the appropriate district court of the United States to enforce this Act and any Act to which this section applies. Any person, other than a foreign government, who knowingly violates any provision of subsection (e) of this section, or any regulation conforming to this Act, would be guilty of a criminal offense and subject to penalties provided under section 309 of the MSA. Authorized officers enforcing the provisions of any Act to which this section applies would be authorized, with or without a warrant or other process, to search or inspect any facility used for the storage, processing, transport, or trade of fish or fish products; inspect any records pertaining to the storage, processing, transport, or trade of fish or fish products; detain, for 5 days, any shipment of fish or fish product within the jurisdiction of the United States; and make an arrest without a warrant. The Secretary could issue subpoenas for the production of relevant papers, photographs, records, books, and documents in any form including electronic, electrical, or magnetic.

Subsection (d) would give the district courts of the United States jurisdiction over any actions arising under this section. American Samoa would be included within the District of Hawaii. Any offenses not committed in any district would be subject to the venue provisions of section 3238 of title 18, United States Code.

Subsection (e) would create a list of unlawful activities and would direct the Secretary to enforce such regulations as may be necessary to carry out this section.

Section 102. Conforming, Minor, and Technical Amendments.

This section would provide for enforcement under section 101 of this Act, of the High Seas Driftnet Fishing Moratorium Protection Act, the Dolphin Protection Consumer Information Act, the Tuna Conventions Act of 1950, the Northern Pacific Anadromous Stocks Act of 1992, the Pacific Salmon Treaty Act of 1985 (16 U.S.C. 3631 et. seq.), the South Pacific Tuna Act of 1988, the Antarctic Marine Living Resources Convention Act of 1984, the Atlantic Tunas Convention Act of 1975, the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Convention Act of 1995, the Western and Central Pacific Fisheries Convention Implementation Act, and the Northern Pacific Halibut Act of 1982.

Section 103. Illegal, Unreported, or Unregulated Fishing.

This section would amend the High Seas Driftnet Fishing Moratorium Protection Act to include a list of vessels and vessel owners engaged in IUU fishing, to restrict port access to all U.S. ports, and to authorize the Secretary of Treasury to take actions with respect to fishing vessels that receive a negative certification under section 609 or 910.

TITLE II—LAW ENFORCEMENT AND INTERNATIONAL OPERATIONS

Section 201. International Fisheries Enforcement Program.

Subsection (a) would direct the Secretary to establish an inter-agency International Fisheries Enforcement Program, within NMFS OLE, within 12 months of the date of enactment of this Act. This program would detect and investigate IUU fishing activity and enforce the provisions of this Act. The program would have a representative from the U.S. Coast Guard, U.S. Customs and Border Protection, U.S. Food and Drug Administration, and any other agency deemed appropriate by the Secretary.

Subsection (b) would allow the Secretary to request from the heads of other departments and agencies providing program staff to participate in staffing the program by agreement, on a reimbursable basis or otherwise, to share personnel, services, equipment, and facilities with the program, and extend enforcement authorities to other agencies within the program for the purposes of this program. The Secretary and the department and agency heads providing staff for the program may develop interagency plans, budgets, and financing. Within 180 days after the establishment of the program, the Secretary shall develop a 5-year strategic plan, to be updated at least once every 5 years, for guiding interagency and intergovernmental international fisheries enforcement efforts. Additionally, the Secretary, in coordination with the heads of other departments and agencies providing staff for the Program, may create and participate in task forces, committees, or other working groups, as well as enter into agreements with other Federal, State, or local governments, as well as with foreign governments, on a reimbursable basis or otherwise, for such purposes.

Subsection (c) would allow authorized officers to have the powers and authority provided in section 101 while enforcing the provisions of this Act.

Subsection (d) would direct the Secretary and the other program participants to share all applicable information, intelligence, and data, related to IUU fishing. The Secretary, through the program, would coordinate the collection, storage, analysis, and dissemination of all applicable materials related to IUU fishing and would ensure the protection and confidentiality required by law for materials related to IUU fishing. The Secretary and the other program participants would develop data standardization for fisheries-related data. Upon request of the Secretary, elements of the intelligence community would collect information related to IUU fishing outside the United States about non-U.S. citizens and share such information with the Secretary, through the program, for law enforcement purposes. In addition, this section would give the Secretary the authority to share fisheries related data with other Federal, State, and foreign governments, as well as international organizations, if such governments and organizations have policies and procedures to safeguard the information from unintended disclosure, and if the exchange of information is necessary to carry out the requirements of this section.

Subsection (e) would authorize $30 million to the Secretary annually for FY 2012 through FY 2017 to carry out the purposes of this section.

Section 202. International Cooperation and Assistance Program.

This section would direct the Secretary to establish an international cooperation and assistance program, including grants, to provide assistance for international capacity building efforts. In carrying out the program, the Secretary would provide funding and technical expertise to other nations to assist them in addressing IUU fishing, to reduce bycatch of living marine resources, and to improve marine resource conservation. The Secretary of State is further authorized to receive, on behalf of the United States Government, reports, requests, recommendations, and other communications of the commissions, and to take appropriate action thereon either directly or by reference to the appropriate authority.]

[(b) REGULATIONS.—Regulations recommended by each commission pursuant to the convention requiring the submission to the commission of records of operations by boat captains or other persons who participate in the fisheries covered by the convention, upon the concurrent approval of the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Interior, shall be promulgated by the latter and upon publication in the Federal Register, shall be applicable to all vessels and persons subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.]

(a) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of State and, with respect to enforcement measures, the Secretary of the Department in which the Coast Guard is operating, may promulgate such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the United States international obligations under the Convention and this Act, including recommendations and decisions adopted by the Commission. In cases where the Secretary has discretion in the implementation of one or more measures adopted by the Commission that would govern fisheries under the authority of a Regional Fishery Management Council, the Secretary may, to the extent practicable within the implementation schedule of the Convention and any recommendations and decisions adopted by the Commission, promulgate such regulations in accordance with the procedures established by the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (16 U.S.C. 1801 et seq.).

(c) RULEMAKING PROCEDURES; PROHIBITIONS.—Regulations required to carry out recommendations of the commission made pursuant to paragraph 5 of article II of the Convention for the Establishment of an Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission shall be promulgated as hereinafter provided by the Secretary of the Interior upon approval of such recommendations by the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Interior. The Secretary of the Interior shall cause to be published in the Federal Register a general notice of proposed rulemaking and shall afford interested persons an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking through (1) submission of written data, views, or arguments, and (2) oral presentation at a public hearing. Such regulations shall be published in the Federal Register and shall be accompanied by a statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of the regulations. After publication in the Federal Register such regulations shall be applicable to all vessels and persons subject to the jurisdiction of the United States on such date as the Secretary of the Interior shall prescribe, but in no event prior to an agreed date for the application by all countries whose vessels engage in fishing for species covered by the convention in the regulatory area on a meaningful scale, in terms of effect upon the success of the conservation program, of effective measures for the implementation of the commission's recommendation applicable to all vessels and persons subject to their respective jurisdictions. The Secretary of the Interior shall suspend at any time the application of any such regulations when, after consultation with the Secretary of State and the United States Commissioners, he determines that foreign fishing operations in the regulatory area are such as to constitute a serious threat to the achievement of the objectives of the commission's recommendations. The regulations thus promulgated may include the selection for regulation of one or more of the species covered by the convention; the division of the convention waters into areas; the establishment of one more open or closed seasons as to each area; the limitation of the size of the fish and quantity of the catch which may be taken from each area within any season during which fishing is allowed; the limitation or prohibition of the incidental catch of a regulated species which may be retained, taken, possessed, or landed by vessels or persons fishing for other species of fish; the requiring of such clearance certificates for vessels as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of the convention and this Act; and such other measures incidental thereto as the Secretary of the Interior may deem necessary to implement the recommendations of the commission: Provided, That upon the promulgation of any such regulations the Secretary of the Interior shall promulgate additional regulations, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, which shall become effective simultaneously with the application of the regulations hereinbefore referred to (1) to prohibit the entry into the United States, from any country when the vessels of such country are being used in the conduct of fishing operations in the regulatory area in such manner or in such circumstances as would tend to diminish the effectiveness of the conservation recommendations of the commission, of fish in any form of those species which are subject to regulation pursuant to a recommendation of the commission and which were taken from the regulatory area; and (2) to prohibit entry into the United States, from any country, of fish in any form of those species which are subject to regulation pursuant to a recommendation of the commission and which were taken from the regulatory area by vessels other than those of such country in such manner or in such circumstances as would tend to diminish the effectiveness of the conservation recommendations of the commission. In the case of repeated and flagrant fishing operations in the regulatory area by the vessels of any country which seriously threaten the achievement of the objectives of the commission's recommendations, the Secretary of the Interior, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, may, in his discretion, also prohibit the entry from such country of such other species of tuna, in any form, as may be under investigation by the commission and which were taken in the regulatory area. The aforesaid prohibitions shall continue until the Secretary of the Interior is satisfied that the condition warranting the prohibition no longer exists, except that all fish in any form of the species under regulation which were previously prohibited from entry shall continue to be prohibited from entry.

DOLPHIN PROTECTION CONSUMER INFORMATION ACT

SEC. 901. DOLPHIN PROTECTION.

[16 U.S.C. 1385]

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the “Dolphin Protection Consumer Information Act”.

(b) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) dolphins and other marine mammals are frequently killed in the course of tuna fishing operations in the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean and high seas driftnet fishing in other parts of the world;

(2) it is the policy of the United States to support a worldwide ban on high seas driftnet fishing, in part because of the harmful effects that such driftnets have on marine mammals, including dolphins; and

(3) consumers would like to know if the tuna they purchase is falsely labeled as to the effect of the harvesting of the tuna on dolphins.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section—

(1) the terms “driftnet” and “driftnet fishing” have the meanings given those terms in section 4003 of the Driftnet Impact Monitoring, Assessment, and Control Act of 1987 (16 U.S.C. 1822 note);

(2) the term “eastern tropical Pacific Ocean” means the area of the Pacific Ocean bounded by 40 degrees north latitude, 40 degrees south latitude, 160 degrees west longitude, and the western coastlines of North, Central, and South America;

(3) the term “label” means a display of written, printed, or graphic matter on or affixed to the immediate container of any article;

(4) the term “Secretary” means the Secretary of Commerce; and

(5) the term “tuna product” means a food item which contains tuna and which has been processed for retail sale, except perishable sandwiches, salads, or other products with a shelf life of less than 3 days.

(d) LABELING STANDARD.—

(1) It is a violation of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) for any producer, importer, exporter, distributor, or seller of any tuna product that is exported from or offered for sale in the United States to include on the label of that product the term “dolphin safe” or any other term or symbol that falsely claims or suggests that the tuna contained in the product were harvested using a method of fishing that is not harmful to dolphins if the product contains tuna harvested—

(A) on the high seas by a vessel engaged in driftnet fishing;

(B) outside the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean by a vessel using purse seine nets—

(i) in a fishery in which the Secretary has determined that a regular and significant association occurs between dolphins and tuna (similar to the association between dolphins and tuna in the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean), unless such product is accompanied by a written statement, executed by the captain of the vessel and an observer participating in a national or international program acceptable to the Secretary, certifying that no purse seine net was intentionally deployed on or used to encircle dolphins during the particular voyage on which the tuna were caught and no dolphins were killed or seriously injured in the sets in which the tuna were caught; or

(ii) in any other fishery (other than a fishery described in subparagraph (D)) unless the product is accompanied by a written statement executed by the captain of the vessel certifying that no purse seine net was intentionally deployed on or used to encircle dolphins during the particular voyage on which the tuna was harvested;

(C) in the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean by a vessel using a purse seine net unless the tuna meet the requirements for being considered dolphin safe under paragraph (2); or

(D) by a vessel in a fishery other than one described in subparagraph (A), (B), or (C) that is identified by the Secretary as having a regular and significant mortality or serious injury of dolphins, unless such product is accompanied by a written statement executed by the captain of the vessel and an observer participating in a national or international program acceptable to the Secretary that no dolphins were killed or seriously injured in the sets or other gear deployments in which the tuna were caught, provided that the Secretary determines that such an observer statement is necessary.

(2) For purposes of paragraph (1)(C), a tuna product that contains tuna harvested in the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean by a vessel using purse seine nets is dolphin safe if—

(A) the vessel is of a type and size that the Secretary has determined, consistent with the International Dolphin Conservation Program, is not capable of deploying its purse seine nets on or to encircle dolphins; or

(B)(i) the product is accompanied by a written statement executed by the captain providing the certification required under subsection (h);

(ii) the product is accompanied by a written statement executed by—

(I) the Secretary or the Secretary's designee;

(II) a representative of the Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission; or

(III) an authorized representative of a participating nation whose national program meets the requirements of the International Dolphin Conservation Program, which states that there was an observer approved by the International Dolphin Conservation Program on board the vessel during the entire trip and that such observer provided the certification required under subsection (h); and

(iii) the statements referred to in clauses (i) and (ii) are endorsed in writing by each exporter, importer, and processor of the product; and

(C) the written statements and endorsements referred to in subparagraph (B) comply with regulations promulgated by the Secretary which provide for the verification of tuna products as dolphin safe.

(3)(A) The Secretary of Commerce shall develop an official mark that may be used to label tuna products as dolphin safe in accordance with this Act.

(B) A tuna product that bears the dolphin safe mark developed under subparagraph (A) shall not bear any other label or mark that refers to dolphins, porpoises, or marine mammals.

(C) It is a violation of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) to label a tuna product with any label or mark that refers to dolphins, porpoises, or marine mammals other than the mark developed under subparagraph (A) unless—

(i) no dolphins were killed or seriously injured in the sets or other gear deployments in which the tuna were caught;

(ii) the label is supported by a tracking and verification program which is comparable in effectiveness to the program established under subsection (f); and

(iii) the label complies with all applicable labeling, marketing, and advertising laws and regulations of the Federal Trade Commission, including any guidelines for environmental labeling.

(D) If the Secretary determines that the use of a label referred to in subparagraph (C) is substantially undermining the conservation goals of the International Dolphin Conservation Program, the Secretary shall report that determination to the United States Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and the United States House of Representatives Committees on Resources and on Commerce, along with recommendations to correct such problems.

(E) It is a violation of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) willingly and knowingly to use a label referred to in subparagraph (C) in a campaign or effort to mislead or deceive consumers about the level of protection afforded dolphins under the International Dolphin Conservation Program.

(4) It is a violation of section 101 of the International Fisheries Stewardship and Enforcement Act for any person to assault, resist, oppose, impede, intimidate, or interfere with and authorized officer in the conduct of any search, investigation or inspection under this Act.

[(e) ENFORCEMENT.—Any person who knowingly and willfully makes a statement or endorsement described in subsection (d)(2)(B) that is false is liable for a civil penalty of not to exceed $100,000 assessed in an action brought in any appropriate district court of the United States on behalf of the Secretary.]

(e) ENFORCEMENT.—This Act shall be enforced under section 101 of the International Fisheries Stewardship and Enforcement Act.

(f) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury, shall issue regulations to implement this Act, including regulations to establish a domestic tracking and verification program that provides for the effective tracking of tuna labeled under subsection (d). In the development of these regulations, the Secretary shall establish appropriate procedures for ensuring the confidentiality of proprietary information the submission of which is voluntary or mandatory. The regulations shall address each of the following items:

(1) The use of weight calculation for purposes of tracking tuna caught, landed, processed, and exported.

(2) Additional measures to enhance current observer coverage, including the establishment of criteria for training, and for improving monitoring and reporting capabilities and procedures.

(3) The designation of well location, procedures for sealing holds, procedures for monitoring and certifying both above and below deck, or through equally effective methods, the tracking and verification of tuna labeled under subsection (d).

(4) The reporting, receipt, and database storage of radio and facsimile transmittals from fishing vessels containing information related to the tracking and verification of tuna, and the definition of set.

(5) The shore-based verification and tracking throughout the fishing, transshipment, and canning process by means of Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission trip records or otherwise.

(6) The use of periodic audits and spot checks for caught, landed, and processed tuna products labeled in accordance with subsection (d).

(7) The provision of timely access to data required under this subsection by the Secretary from harvesting nations to undertake the actions required in paragraph (6) of this paragraph. The Secretary may make such adjustments as may be appropriate to the regulations promulgated under this subsection to implement an international tracking and verification program that meets or exceeds the minimum requirements established by the Secretary under this subsection.

(g) SECRETARIAL FINDINGS.—

(1) Between March 1, 1999, and March 31, 1999, the Secretary shall, on the basis of the research conducted before March 1, 1999, under section 304(a) of the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972, information obtained under the International Dolphin Conservation Program, and any other relevant information, make an initial finding regarding whether the intentional deployment on or encirclement of dolphins with purse seine nets is having a significant adverse impact on any depleted dolphin stock in the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean. The initial finding shall be published immediately in the Federal Register and shall become effective upon a subsequent date determined by the Secretary.

(2) Between July 1, 2001, and December 31, 2002, the Secretary shall, on the basis of the completed study conducted under section 304(a) of the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972, information obtained under the International Dolphin Conservation Program, and any other relevant information, make a finding regarding whether the intentional deployment on or encirclement of dolphins with purse seine nets is having a significant adverse impact on any depleted dolphin stock in the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean. The finding shall be published immediately in the Federal Register and shall become effective upon a subsequent date determined by the Secretary.

(h) CERTIFICATION BY CAPTAIN AND OBSERVER.—

(1) Unless otherwise required by paragraph (2), the certification by the captain under subsection (d)(2)(B)(i) and the certification provided by the observer as specified in subsection (d)(2)(B)(ii) shall be that no dolphins were killed or seriously injured during the sets in which the tuna were caught.

(2) The certification by the captain under subsection (d)(2)(B)(i) and the certification provided by the observer as specified under subsection (d)(2)(B)(ii) shall be that no tuna were caught on the trip in which such tuna were harvested using a purse seine net intentionally deployed on or to encircle dolphins, and that no dolphins were killed or seriously injured during the sets in which the tuna were caught, if the tuna were caught on a trip commencing—

(A) before the effective date of the initial finding by the Secretary under subsection (g)(1);

(B) after the effective date of such initial finding and before the effective date of the finding of the Secretary under subsection (g)(2), where the initial finding is that the intentional deployment on or encirclement of dolphins is having a significant adverse impact on any depleted dolphin stock; or

(C) after the effective date of the finding under subsection (g)(2), where such finding is that the intentional deployment on or encirclement of dolphins is having a significant adverse impact on any such depleted stock.

The study, which shall commence on October 1, 1997, shall consist of abundance surveys as described in paragraph (2) and stress studies as described in paragraph (3), and shall address the question of whether such encirclement is having a significant adverse impact on any depleted dolphin stock in the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean.

(3) STRESS STUDIES.—The stress studies under this subsection shall include—

(A) a review of relevant stress-related research and a 3-year series of necropsy samples from dolphins obtained by commercial vessels;

(B) a 1-year review of relevant historical demographic and biological data related to dolphins and dolphin stocks referred to in paragraph (1); and

(C) an experiment involving the repeated chasing and capturing of dolphins by means of intentional encirclement.

(4) REPORT.—No later than 90 days after publishing the finding under subsection (g)(2) of the Dolphin Protection Consumer Information Act, the Secretary shall complete and submit a report containing the results of the research described in this subsection to the United States Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and the United States House of Representatives Committees on Resources and on Commerce, and to the Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission.

[SEC. 811. PENALTIES.

[(a) CIVIL PENALTIES.

[(1) Any person who is found by the Secretary of Commerce, after notice and opportunity for a hearing in accordance with section 554 of title 5, United States Code, to have committed an act prohibited by section 8010 shall be liable to the United States for a civil penalty. The amount of the civil penalty shall not exceed $100,000 for each violation. Each day of a continuing violation shall constitute a separate offense. The amount of such civil penalty shall be assessed by the Secretary of Commerce, or the Secretary's designee, by written notice. In determining the amount of such penalty, the Secretary of Commerce shall take into account the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the prohibited acts committed and, with respect to the violation, the degree of culpability, any history of prior offenses, ability to pay, and such other matters as justice may require.

[(2) Any person against whom a civil penalty is assessed under paragraph (1) may obtain review thereof in the appropriate court of the United States by filing a complaint in such court within thirty days from the date of such order and by simultaneously serving a copy of such complaint by certified mail on the Secretary of Commerce, the Attorney General, and the appropriate United States Attorney. The Secretary of Commerce shall promptly file in such court a certified copy of the record upon which such violation was found or such penalty imposed, as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code. The findings and order of the Secretary of Commerce shall be set aside by such court if they are not found to be supported by substantial evidence, as provided in section 706(2) of title 5, United States Code.

[(3) If any person fails to pay an assessment of a civil penalty after it has become a final and unappealable order, or after the appropriate court has entered final judgment in favor of the Secretary of Commerce, the matter shall be referred to the Attorney General, who shall recover the amount assessed in any appropriate district court of the United States. In such action, the validity and appropriateness of the final order imposing the civil penalty shall not be subject to review.

[(4) A fishing vessel (including its fishing gear, furniture, appurtenances, stores, and cargo) used in the commission of an act prohibited by section 8010 shall be liable in rem for any civil penalty assessed for such violation under paragraph (1) and may be proceeded against in any district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof. Such penalty shall constitute a maritime lien on such vessel that may be recovered in an action in rem in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction over the vessel.

[(5) The Secretary of Commerce may compromise, modify, or remit, with or without conditions, any civil penalty that is subject to imposition or that has been imposed under this section.

[(6) For the purposes of conducting any hearing under this section, the Secretary of Commerce may issue subpoenas for the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of relevant papers, books, and documents, and may administer oaths. Witnesses summoned shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid to witnesses in the courts of the United States. In case of contempt or refusal to obey a subpoena served upon any person pursuant to this paragraph, the district court of the United States for any district in which such person is found, resides, or transacts business, upon application by the United States and after notice to such person, shall have jurisdiction to issue an order requiring such person to appear and give testimony before the Secretary of Commerce or to appear and produce documents before the Secretary of Commerce, or both, and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof.

[(1) A person is guilty of an offense if that person commits any act prohibited by section 8010 (5), (6), (7), or (8).

[(2) Any offense described in paragraph (1) is a class A misdemeanor punishable by a fine under title 18, United States Code, or imprisonment for not more than 6 months, or both; except that if in the commission of any offense the person uses a dangerous weapon, engages in conduct that causes bodily injury to any enforcement officer, or places any such officer in fear of imminent bodily injury, the offense is a felony punishable by a fine under title 18, United States Code, or imprisonment for not more than 10 years, or both.

[(c) Forfeiture.

[(1) Any fishing vessel (including its fishing gear, furniture, appurtenances, stores, and cargo) used, and any fish (or a fair market value thereof) taken or retained, in any manner, in connection with or as a result of the commission of any act prohibited by section 1810 shall be subject to forfeiture to the United States. All or part of such vessel may, and all such fish shall, be forfeited to the United States pursuant to a civil proceeding under this section.

[(2) Any district court of the United States shall have jurisdiction, upon application of the Attorney General on behalf of the United States, to order any forfeiture authorized under paragraph (1) and any action provided for under paragraph (4).

[(3) If a judgment is entered for the United States in a civil forfeiture proceeding under this section, the Attorney General may seize any property or other interest declared forfeited to the United States, which has not previously been seized pursuant to this title or for which security has not previously been obtained. The provisions of the customs laws relating to—

[(A) the seizure, forfeiture, and condemnation of property for violation of the customs law;

[(B) the disposition of such property or the proceeds from the sale thereof; and

[(C) the remission or mitigation of any such forfeiture; shall apply to seizures and forfeitures incurred, or alleged to have been incurred, under the provisions of this title, unless such provisions are inconsistent with the purposes, policy, and provisions of this title.

[(4)(A) Any officer authorized to serve any process in rem that is issued by a court having jurisdiction under section 8009(b) shall—

[(i) stay the execution of such process; or

[(ii) discharge any fish seized pursuant to such process; upon receipt of a satisfactory bond or other security from any person claiming such property. Such bond or other security shall be conditioned upon such person delivering such property to the appropriate court upon order thereof, without any impairment of its value, or paying the monetary value of such property pursuant to an order of such court. Judgment shall be recoverable on such bond or other security against both the principal and any sureties in the event that any condition thereof is breached, as determined by such court.

[(B) Any fish seized pursuant to this title may be sold, subject to the approval and direction of the appropriate court, for not less than the fair market value thereof. The proceeds of any such sale shall be deposited with such court pending the disposition of the matter involved.

[(5) For purposes of this section, it shall be a rebuttable presumption that all fish found on board a fishing vessel and which is seized in connection with an act prohibited by section

8010 were taken or retained in violation of the Convention and this title.】

(b) ELIGIBILITY.—

(1) Any vessel of the United States is eligible to receive a permit under this section, unless the vessel was previously authorized to be used for fishing on the high seas by a foreign nation, and

(B) the foreign nation, within the last three years preceding application for a permit under this section, withdrew such authorization because the vessel undermined the effectiveness of international conservation and management measures.

(2) The restriction in paragraph (1) does not apply if ownership of the vessel has changed since the vessel undermined the effectiveness of international conservation and management measures, and the new owner has provided sufficient evidence to the Secretary demonstrating that the previous owner or operator has no further legal, beneficial or financial interest in, or control of, the vessel.

(3) The restriction in paragraph (1) does not apply if the Secretary makes a determination that issuing a permit would not subvert the purposes of the Agreement.

(4) The Secretary may not issue a permit to a vessel unless the Secretary is satisfied that the United States will be able to exercise effectively its responsibilities under the Agreement with respect to that vessel.

(c) APPLICATION.—

(1) The owner or operator of a high seas fishing vessel may apply for a permit under this section by completing an application form prescribed by the Secretary.

The amount of any fee charged for a permit issued under this section shall not exceed the administrative costs incurred in issuing such permits. The permitting fee may be in addition to any fee required under any regional permitting regime applicable to high seas fishing vessels.

(2) The fees authorized by paragraph (1) shall be collected and credited to the Operations, Research and Facilities account of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Fees collected under this subsection shall be available for the necessary expenses of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in implementing this Act, and shall remain available until expended.
